

SCIHEALTH LAUNCHES NEW E-LEARNING SOLUTION FOR CUSTOMERS

Online training provides greater efficiency and cost savings

ATLANTA, GA – 03/27/2007 – SciHealth announced it has launched E-Learning, a new solution to simplify training for Insight users.

E-Learning, an on-line instruction tool, helps customers learn about all aspects of SciHealth products through self-paced instruction. E-Learning provides both graphic and audio training modules in brief 10 to 30 minute instructional segments.

“We continue to drive our products to the intersection of functionality and efficiency” said Bill Leander, SciHealth CEO. “With E-Learning, our customers have ready access to online training. Whether for initial training of a new customer, refresher courses for current users, new hires or rolling out exciting upgrades – E-Learning will provide our customers a new level of value.”

By eliminating travel expenses, training room costs and reliance on scheduling instructors, E-Learning offers greater budget and scheduling predictability to SciHealth customers.

“We are very excited to offer this benefit to our customers” said John Stigaard, SciHealth’s COO, “the initial reaction has been terrific. We are already seeing a greater number of proficient users in a shorter period of time. It’s a real plus for a busy healthcare organization.”

About SciHealth, Inc.

SciHealth, Inc. is a leading healthcare performance management software company, providing solutions to over 300 hospitals in the U.S., and the U.S. Military Health System worldwide. Thousands of decision makers rely on SciHealth’s business intelligence tools to exceed expectations as they make daily decisions from alerts, dashboards, and scorecards. More information can be found at <http://www.scihealth.com>.

###